

05 January 2009

Lesbian Vampire Killers Trailer Arrives

Lock up your children

We've spent far too much time already marvelling at the provocative title to Phil Claydon's new horror comedy, so we won't go over that ground again here. What we'll say is this is a film about vampires who are also lesbians and the red-blooded heterosexual males who, clearly threatened by their redundancy in any conceivable sexual scenario, set out to kill them.

Despite our better judgement we're actually rather excited to see James Corden and Mathew Horne engage in a spot of misogynistic monster-slaying and if you're still wondering why then click here for the first Lesbian Vampire Killers trailer.

James Dyer

Link to the online page; <http://www.empireonline.com/news/story.asp?NID=23952>